

Southland Industries
Design • Build • Maintain

Southland's culture of forward-thinking excellence was defined upon our founding in 1949. Today, we're among the safest and most progressive mechanical systems engineering, construction and service companies in North America.

Why Southland Industries?

Efficiency.

We use formal lean construction processes that improve productivity, reduce redundancy and conserve resources – so your projects result in faster and greater profits for your business.

Innovation.

We look at every project as a fresh opportunity to create the best solution for the challenge at hand.

Safety.

Our expansive, top-ranked safety measures greatly reduce risk – not just for our employees but for your project as well, enhancing the quality of the products and services we deliver to you.

Collaboration.

Our expertise is in-house, so everyone involved in your project starts and stays in constant communication.

Shared Risk.

We uphold our personal and professional integrity, backing our promises with firm pricing and warranties against gaps in scope.

Passion.

At Southland, we love what we do and we're dedicated to doing our best. It's that simple.
